

Starting Your Utility Data Service

GreenPath Energy Solutions' utility data tracking service gives you objective, actionable data to help you better understand and manage your efforts to reduce energy use and expense.

To get started, we gather three simple pieces of information. Once we receive everything, onboarding your building is simple and easy. We'll work directly with your utility providers to collect, aggregate and validate your data, and generate valuable energy insight.

Onboarding Your Building

1

Building Information

- Provide basic building attributes (address, sq. ft., year built, etc.)

2

Recent Utility Bill Samples

- We need one single, recent bill sample for each utility and online access, if available
- We will track all metered utility sources (gas, electric, etc.)

3

Signed Authorizations

- We will provide you with a letter of authorization for each utility that you will sign and submit to us
- Signed authorizations allow our team to gather both historic utility data and ongoing data to continuously track your energy use

Please note that your data privacy is our top priority. Your data will always be kept confidential.

*Data collection requirements may vary by local utility processes and/or procedures
